

EVERYTHING IS TOTALLY EASY.

Planner's favourite for big projects:
VENTAFLEX® air ducts

The construction industry depends on a variety of external conditions – at the moment there are delays at many large-scale projects, because not only skilled workers, but also material is not available. Every discipline that can be dealt with in an uncomplicated and timely manner means some planning security for the building owners and keeping the costs in the estimated budget.

Especially in times of the pandemic, ventilation technology for public buildings is a hotly debated issue and additionally has further expolsiveness: Strict deadlines often have to be met in order to secure the financing via support programmes – that is why nothing may “go wrong” in planning and in construction!

VENTAFLEX® air ducts: unload – install – done!

An on-time delivery and the special material characteristics of the VENTAFLEX® air ducts guarantee working on schedule: Installation can be done directly because fully insulated and therefore immediately applicable and due to the low weight easy to handle. Prefabricated components in 2 m and 3 m length even accelerate this – good planning in advance pays off.

It couldn't be easier:
Self-explanatory installation

The installation of the VENTAFLEX® system turns out to be totally uncomplicated for the craftsmen on site. If there should be any questions, we offer “help for self-help”: For each application there are thoughtful, easy to understand installation instructions – online downloadable.
